- This does not refer to everyone that got a refund on their state tax return. It is specifically for taxpayers that received more than $10 in unemployment compensation during the tax year or who itemized their deductions in a previous year and received more than $10 in state/local income tax refunds.
- Both cases lead to the money being treated as taxable income and they should have received and brought in Form 1099-G.

- Some taxpayers, usually self-employed, need to pay at least 90% of the tax they will owe throughout the year through withholding or estimated tax payments.
- Estimated payments are generally made for self-employed income, interest, dividends, rents, and alimony.
- Taxpayers are given the option to apply some or all their refund to the tax they will owe next year, however this is uncommon.

- A capital loss is when someone sells a capital asset for less than it is worth and takes a loss.
- Up to $3,000 of that loss is tax deductible and anything over the $3,000 can be carried over to the following year.
- If a person carried over loss from a previous year, they should check "Yes".
- The taxpayer will need to provide a copy of last year's return in order to locate the necessary information

- If a taxpayer is enrolled in an insurance plan through the marketplace (Medicaid or insurance not provided by an employer) then they should have received (and brought with them) Form 1095-A and should check "Yes".
- Sometimes these forms are not received until late in tax season, and they are not always required- consult the Site Coordinator if they do not have their form with them.

The 2021 Recovery rebate will be applied to the 2021 tax return IF the taxpayer DID NOT receive the 3rd stimulus payment back in 2021. Payments were made starting in March of 2021. They were $1400 per person.

Most likely, people will not remember if they got it or not. If they don't remember, it's probably safer to assume they DID get it. If they claim they did not receive it, it will be given to them as a refund. The IRS will do a double check, and if it's found that they did receive it, it will be deducted from their refund before it's processed. They will think they are getting $1400 more than they actually will receive.

- The Advanced Child Tax Credit payments were sent to tax payers monthly, starting in July 2021 through December of 2021.
- Payments were $250 or $300 per eligible child, depending on age.
- The IRS is sending Letter 6419 that states how much they have received, so they can claim the rest on their tax return. We need this letter if at all possible so they don't mistakenly report the wrong amount they have received from this credit.
